SHORT CHANGE WORKER .- A supposed professional short-change worker visited two Washington stores yesterday afternoon and succeeded in getting $5 at each place. The first store visited was that of J. Louis Loose, florist, Thirteenth and F streets, northwest, who lives in Alexandria. The man purchased 50 cents' worth of carnations and tendered a $10 bill in payment. and tendered a $10 bill in payment. When the cashier had counted out a part of the change he stated that he had a $5 bill which he wanted changed, and asked that the other be returned to him. It was handed back and he calmly walked out with the bill and the change, remarking that he would call later for the flowers. The same game was worked at the confectionery store of J. F. Sheets, on Seventh street northwest Both cases were reported to the police, and the descriptions far-nished in each correspond throughout. The sharper was about forty years of age, well dressed in a dark suit, derby age, well dressed in a dark suit, derby hat, and plaid vest, and had black hair and moustache. The police are on the lookout for him.

WANT HELF .- The Alexandria Marufacturing Company (formerly Zimmer-man's overall factory) advertises for man's overall factory) advertises for boys to operate handkerchief and suspender machines. The company now propose to manufacture handkerchiefs, tacks, buckles and buttons in connection with their other products. This factory has proven a success from the beginning, the articles manufactured there having immediately taken a high place among immediately taken a high place among similar goods.

DISCOURSES ON THE PROPHECIES .-The series of meetings now held at 921 King street, on the prophesies of the Bible still continue. Those who attend svince much interest. The "Third Angel's Message" will be the topic for tonight. Mr. G. W. Lewis, evangelist, is in charge of the meetings, and his discourses evidence the fact that he has made the prophetical portion of the Bible a close study. All who attend will find the meetings especially
